OTHER SCHOLARLY AND CREATIVE WORK

Diversity Inclusion: Serve as a faculty advisor, mentor, and role model in various capacities through pipeline programs for underrepresented minority students.

Curricular development: Involved in the design, planning, and implementation of several clinical courses at FIU HWCOC. Current projects include integrating new or relevant topics such as disabilities, transgender health, and opioid education into the Clinical Skills curriculum. Also incorporating concepts of social determinants of health and interdisciplinary care into case-based learning sessions.

Faculty Development: Assist with weekly faculty training sessions, workshops, standardized training, and simulations.

Recruitment: Interview and assist in the onboarding of new faculty at HWCOC. Created a welcome packet for new physicians entering the HHS department that offers university resources and information. Seeking to implement strategies specifically aimed at recruiting and retaining minority faculty, students, and staff.

Assessment: Develop grading rubrics, multiple-choice exam questions, and standardized patient case scenarios used to assess medical students. Involved in pilot project to implement Entrustable Professional Activities (EPA's) for competency-based assessment of medical students.

Technology: Utilize high-fidelity equipment, patient simulators, and live streaming to enhance the learning environment. Create web-based learning tools, online modules, interactive videos. Enhance didactic teaching, PowerPoints, and small-group teaching materials.
